

Outplacement

WHY OUTPLACEMENT?

In times of fast economic change, the separation from employees is often inevitable. For the person concerned and his/her family and friends, for the remaining colleagues and for the superiors this is a stressful situation. The support received during outplacement makes it easier for your employees to successfully cope with this situation and to find a new position more quickly. The people who are around the person concerned can relax knowing that he or she is well supported. Including outplacement as a part of your separation culture makes it possible for all parties involved to successfully handle this difficult situation. It also eases the strain on your relationship with your laid-off employees, who may be your future customers, referrers, clients, and perhaps, in a few years, your employees again.

GOAL AND CONTENT

The goal of outplacement is to help your employees to cope with the termination and to find a new job within a reasonable period of time that meets their needs and is in line with their long-term career goals.

My outplacement covers the entire process (Figure 1) which begins in your company once notice has been given and finishes after the probation period ends with the new company. I advise and accompany your employees in the processing of the dismissal, the personal and professional assessment and new orientation, in the job search and making applications as well as – if needed – in the course of an onboarding during the probation time with the new employer. Below I describe the different topics of an outplacement, which may take place in parallel. The design of an outplacement is made according to the actual needs of your employee.

Handling the situation

- Handling the employment termination, with the aim of good emotional processing
- Reflecting on the reasons for the termination; especially if the personal behaviour of the employee contributed to the decision for dismissal
- Development of alternative attitude- resp. behaviour alternatives with coaching
- Analysis of the actual situation and clarifying of the following questions:
  - Immediate release (if offered by the company) or continue working during the notice period
  - Communication and information to the personal network
  - Review of the financial situation
  - Planning of the remaining time in the company
  - In the case of an immediate release: creation of a new daily structure
- Discussion on the formalities (RAV, insurance)

Personal and professional assessment

Analysis of the employee's personality (Who am I? How am I?)

- Analysis of the professional decisions taken in the past
- Determination of strengths and weaknesses (soft skills: social and personal competencies) with consideration of the external and self-image
- From this the development of self-confidence for credible self-marketing (personal branding)

Inventory of the skills (What are my skills?)

- Creation of a competency profile on the basis of the previous professional experiences
- Elicitation of technical and methodological competencies (hard skills)
- Analysis of previous performance, professional successes and failures
- Processing of success stories in order to becoming aware of personal inclinations, to strengthen the self-consciousness and in order to prepare for job-interviews

Development of the professional ideas and goals (Where do I want to go to?)

- Development of a job requirement profile from two points of view:
  - Job content: Development of a job profile (preferred activities, positioning) as a basis for the job search and application.
  - Job environment: Definition of a desired work environment / optimal working conditions (work location, corporate culture, management culture, degree of freedom, etc.) as preparation for job interviews
- If needed: development of totally new professional perspectives

Market Analysis/Job Research

- Particularly in the case of lateral moves, it makes sense to conduct job research to find out more about the jobs one is considering before searching and applying for them. This serves on the one hand to clarify one's own interest and on the other hand to be able to argue in a more competent way in job interviews.

Job search

- Deciding on application channels:
  - Open job market (job advertisements, Internet)
  - Hidden job market (initiative application, personal network, LinkedIn, personnel consultant/headhunter)
- Development of an inbound and outbound search strategy

Application

Preparation of the application campaign

- Organization of the application activities with methods from work technique and time management
- Becoming familiar with the application resp. recruitment process from the perspective of companies
- Optimization of the applicant's behaviour (e.g., application by phone)

Preparation of the application documents

- Create significant application documents (CV, motivational letter)
- If needed: preparing of additional instruments (performance record, project list, etc.)
- Development of a convincing profile on LinkedIn

Preparation for job-interviews

- Simulation of job-interviews based on concrete job profiles
- Development of tailor-made communication strategies through storytelling
- Ensuring optimal interview preparation by analysing the job requirements
- Evaluation of job-interviews and preparation for follow-up interviews

Support during the application process

- Reflecting on and classifying the experience of applying for jobs
- If needed: adjustment of the application or the communication strategy
- Support in the decision on concrete job offers
- Advice regarding employment contract preparation and salary negotiations

karrierecoaching

Coaching during the probation period

- Clarify issues concerning induction phase, positioning in the company and relationship building
- Reflection on the experiences made in the new company
- Coaching if problems arise, e.g., in leadership or communication

HOW I WORK

Individual Outplacements

Outplacement is a very personal process. I therefore only offer individual outplacements. The collaboration covers either the whole process as described above or parts of it. For younger employees who are experienced in job searching and have a clear professional focus, application coaching may be adequate. For long-standing employees who have problems to cope with the situation, the collaboration will include the emotional handling of the notice and a personal and professional assessment if there is need for a professional reorientation. If the behaviour of an employee was one of the reasons for the notice, coaching to reflect on the situation and develop new perspectives and behaviour makes it easier to find a new professional focus. And last but not least: coaching during the probation time with the new employer facilitates the onboarding, in particular if cultural differences with the company complicate the integration.

Briefing free of charge

A good working relationship promotes success in outplacement. In order for your employees to get to know me and my way of working, I offer them a non-binding and free 30-minute introductory meeting in person or online. Afterwards they can decide whether they want to work with me.

Knowledge transfer

I provide my customers in the consultation as much knowledge as possible from my more than 20 years of experience in the field of personal and professional assessment, job search and job application. In order for them to benefit optimally from this experience, I provide them with comprehensive documentation. These serve as preparation for the sessions as well as for follow-up reading afterwards. And finally, your employees can refresh their acquired knowledge with the documents at any time later.

BUSINESS POLICY AND GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Business policy

A ONE-MAN-SHOW

PETER NÄF karrierecoaching is an individual company registered in the commercial register of the Canton of Zurich. This means that you always work with the boss himself.

CONSISTENCY IN COOPERATION

A successful professional relationship, as well as trust and confidence, develop from successful collaboration over an extended period of time. The advantage of my business model is that you will always deal with the same person and will be able to build on former collaboration.

NETWORKING AND INDEPENDENT

I am connected, but not bound to any network partner. If I consider myself not competent in a subject, I recommend the best alternative known to me.

My independence means that I neither pay for clients I refer nor do I accept anything in return for referrals. The focus is on the needs of my clients.

TRANSPARENCY

A high degree of transparency in working with my clients is important to me. That is why I work with comprehensible methods and, for example, abstain from personality tests when assessing people. I explain methods that are more difficult to understand, so that my clients feel safe and in control at all times.

EXPERTISE OUT OF SPECIALIZATION

People gain deeper understanding by doing the same things time and again and experience them in a new way. For more than 20 years I have been working in the field of career counselling and there is still a lot to discover.

Terms and conditions

Normally coaching sessions last 60 or 90 minutes. Unless we have agreed otherwise or agree during the meeting, any extra time spent at the meeting will be at my expense.

FEES

The hourly rate covers the consulting session as well as its preparation and post-processing. The billing of additional expenses will be agreed upon separately. The consulting service is subject to the full VAT rate applicable at the time the service is rendered.

ONLINE CONSULTING ABROAD

I charge the same hourly rate for online consultations across borders. Invoicing is done in Swiss Francs. The VAT is not charged. For an inexpensive transfer of the invoice amount I have an account with Wise (company information).

PAYMENT

I invoice my services after having finished the cooperation. For long-term mandates we agree upon part payments. Invoices are to be paid within 30 days without discount.

BRIEFING

I offer a non-binding 30-minute briefing free of charge so that your employees get the possibility to get to know me and my working style, and decide whether I am the right person for them.

APPOINTMENTS

Appointments are binding on both sides. In case of prevention, the cancellation is made 24 hours in advance, so that the session does not have to be charged. In case of cancellations or postponements less than 24 hours before the start of the agreed appointment, I charge half the
