

JOB INTERVIEW TRAINING

Preparation is everything

Have you prepared your answers to the usual interview questions? Do you know which of your job-relevant professional experiences your interviewers want to learn more about? Do you have your stories ready to illustrate your strengths (storytelling)? Good preparation is essential for success in an interview. If you know what matters to recruiters and hiring managers, their questions will no longer surprise you.

Smart selling in the job interview

Communication channels in the interview are changing due to technological developments. The questions that interviewers have to clarify remain the same. Even if they seem standard to you, your answers must be personal and represent you and your experience in the best possible way. Have the courage to show the best you have to offer in the job interview: Yourself! After our training you will be well prepared for job interviews. You will be ready for personal interviews as well as for online job interviews and time-shifted video interviews. Read more about the job interview training under the following link:

Offer job interview training (PDF)

Next step

Arrange a free, non-binding, 15-minute preliminary meeting by phone at 076 223 97 88 or by email.

I also offer the training via MS Teams.

Articles on the job interview

Influence? Yes, but the right way!

Are you still tapping or are you already telling?

On job interviews and gorillas